

The End of Quotas

- I. How has the system changed over the past 10 years? If anything has changed, please let us know?
- II. The garment workers have suffered and suffered because of the end of the quotas.
- III. Many factories are suspending work and some have closed down. But some still have work to do
- IV. The working conditions are very bad
Workers are forced to work unjustly
- V. Goods have to be competitive and it is the workers that suffer
They have to work fast, produce high quality and yet the price is very low
- VI. In the end, the workers feel the negative impacts
So, all of the garment worker, please stand up and fight for the rights we are guaranteed under the labor law
